

A world leader in intralogistics –

thanks to comprehensive expertise and innovative solutions.

Global trade requires perfectly orchestrated logistics processes to create a seamless flow of goods that benefits everyone involved. Therefore, the importance of fully automated warehouse systems and the need for more complex intralogistics is increasing continuously.

This is what we stand for:

For decades, SSI SCHAEFER has been in demand as a worldwide partner with the greatest level of expertise and wide-ranging sector-specific experience when it comes to planning and implementing integrated logistics systems.

A comprehensive product range and the widest selection of services in the field of intralogistics enable our customers to purchase highly efficient solutions from just one source. Well-known companies from many different industry sectors are already relying on our expertise.

Our strengths:

We use the latest production technology in our own production facilities with unrivalled depth of value added. Our services range from system planning and consultancy to the realisation of turnkey plants and to tailored service packages. Flexibility and extensive scalability of system solutions is our ongoing objective.

Your benefit:

For any questions and tasks you might face regarding intralogistics systems and applications, all you need is a one point contact: the right one. We develop, produce and implement customised solutions by ourselves. Our proven track record and our high standard of quality ensure that our customers reach the highest possible levels of efficiency and security of investment in intralogistics projects.

