

The Schaefer Group

A strong collective

Years of experience, targeted involvement in world markets and intensive collaboration with our customers – this is how we have gained our expertise, which many sectors of industry have been profiting from over the years.

Schaefer products are used everywhere; in trade and industry, services, local authorities, research centres and management, right through to the end consumer.

With 16 production sites around the globe and a worldwide sales presence, consistently high levels of customer orientation are a given. The use of the latest production technologies ensures direct contact with the marketplace and powerful service capabilities.

This global network continuously provides us with valuable ideas for the latest new developments, product improvements and improvements in the customer service arena.
